

The Educational Talk on ‘Low-Carbon Living’ organized by the Geography Department, TIC
2nd March, 2010

The Geography Department held an educational talk for all the Form One students on 2-3-2010 on the topic of ‘Low-carbon Living’. A guest speaker from the Environmental Protection Department came to share with the students. The topics covered in the talk included the reasons of global warming and its impacts on people, the meaning of carbon foot print and the suggestions of low – carbon living. Case studies of Hong Kong as well as countries all over the world were introduced too.

This educational talk was in line with the topic on ‘Weather and Climate’ which the Form One students will be learning in March, 2010. The Environmental Protection Department offered this school-based visit in response to the United Nations’ World Environmental Day.

It is our wish to cooperate and create a better world for our future generation.
